

I am excited to stand as a candidate for the position of BPP Student President because I believe every student deserves to feel heard, supported, and empowered throughout their journey at BPP University.

During my time at BPP, I have had the privilege of serving as President of the Nepalese Society, Student Voice Representative (SVR) 2025-2026. These roles have given me valuable experience in representing students, organising successful events, promoting diversity and inclusion, and working collaboratively with students and university staff. They have also taught me that meaningful leadership begins with listening.

If elected as Student President, my priority will be to ensure that every student's voice matters. I will actively engage with students from all schools, campuses, and backgrounds to understand their concerns and advocate for practical improvements. Whether you study full-time, part-time, online, or alongside work commitments, your experiences deserve equal representation.

My manifesto focuses on five key priorities:

1. Stronger Student Representation

I will establish regular student feedback sessions, improve communication between students and the university, and ensure concerns are raised promptly with transparency and accountability.

2. Wellbeing and Mental Health

Student wellbeing should always remain a priority. I will work to increase awareness of available support services, promote wellbeing initiatives, and encourage a healthy balance between academic success and personal wellbeing.

3. Career Development and Employability

As many BPP students are preparing for professional careers, I will advocate for more networking events, employer engagement opportunities, industry workshops, mentoring programme, and career-focused sessions that help students succeed beyond graduation.

4. Diversity, Equality, and Inclusion

BPP is home to students from many different cultures and backgrounds. I will continue promoting an inclusive community where everyone feels welcomed, respected, and valued through multicultural events, collaborative activities, and equal opportunities for all.

5. Student Community and Engagement

University life should be more than academics. I will support societies, encourage new student-led initiatives, and create more opportunities for students to connect, collaborate, and build lasting friendships across campuses.

Leadership is not about titles—it is about service, accountability, and creating opportunities for others. I am committed to being approachable, transparent, and proactive. I will regularly update students on the progress of their concerns and ensure that their feedback directly shapes my priorities throughout my term.

Together, we can build a stronger, more connected, and more supportive BPP community where every student has the opportunity to thrive academically, professionally, and personally.

I would be honoured to represent you as your Student President. I ask for your support so that, together, we can make positive and lasting changes for every student at BPP University.

Thank you for your trust and your vote.
